➤ PROGRAMME

The official Programme starts in April 2012 with an introductory seminar. Fellows will take an intensive language course in their home country, prior to the departure for the introductory seminar - January to the end of March 2013 (2 - 3 months maximum within this period)

Ten days Introductory Seminar, April 2012

The ten-day Introductory Seminar in Berlin and Potsdam in cooperation with the University of Potsdam and the Potsdam Center for Policy and Management will offer participants an insight into current social, political, economic and security challenges in the EU and in different host countries through presentations and meetings with senior decision makers. The fellows will have the chance to discuss their plans for their fellowship, receive individual advice, present their professional and personal goals and prepare themselves for the fellowship programme. The Introductory Seminar will serve as a platform for discussion of current political and social challenges and for exchange of ideas.

Fellowship in host institution: Working phase I (mid April 2013 - mid May) and Working phase II (mid May – end of June 2013)

Following the Introductory Seminar, between April 2013 and June 2013, each fellow will be placed in a government institution in Austria, Belgium, Czech Republic, France, Germany, Hungary, Italy, Netherlands, Poland, Portugal, Slovakia, Slovenia and Spain.

During their stay in a host institution, fellows will gain peer-to-peer exchange of experience, and will familiarise themselves with administrative structures and forms of policy making in a host institution. The quality and intensity of the cooperation with the authorities of a host institution is crucial for the success of the fellowship.

The choice of a government institution is made on a case by case basis taking into consideration the preferences outlined in the application form, the profile of the fellow, professional interests, language skills, and the strategic interest of the employer. The final decision about the choice of a host institution is made after the participant has been accepted to the programme. Each fellow is requested to provide alternatives to the preferred host institution for the case of not-acceptance by the first choice.

Three day Intermediary Seminar, Brussels, mid May 2013

Half way through the fellowship, participants will meet with high-ranking officials of NATO and European Union institutions and learn about the current developments in the EU, familiarise themselves with the political culture of the EU and link their work in their home country with the one in the host institution. The seminar also offers an opportunity to monitor individual goals, plan steps for development over the coming months and exchange experience of the host institution with fellow participants.

Five day Final Seminar, beginning of July 2013

At the end of the Programme, the European Fund for the Balkans will invite the fellows to a final review meeting presenting the results of their work and evaluating the fellowship programme. The final seminar will also include trainings in rhetoric, strategic decision-making as well as in leadership and managerial skills.
